Only City in County to Doubla Quota

Of the five or six incorporated cities in Monterey county, among them Salinas, Monterey, Pacific Grove, King City, and Carmel-by-the-Sea, the only one to double its Victory Loan quota was your own little old Carmel.

It was no task at all to raise the quota—$15,000; it just came voluntarily. And it was comparatively easy to gather in the next ten thousand.

Then came the hustling. On Thursday night $25.100 had been subscribed, leaving $4900 to be obtained in two days in order to double the quota. Two members of the local committee resolved to solicit everyone they could reach who had not bought a bond, and the result was surprising.

Men and women whom it was thought would surely subscribe, turned the proposition down cold, and those who were asked in a perfunctory way were really the ones to subscribe enough to make the Carmelo Precinct total $31.000.

Overlooking the ninth green of the new golf course near Carmel-by-the-Sea, on the Pebble Beach property, is the location of the new residence of Pliney B. Holt residence. Mr. Holt and family are prominent in business and social circles in Stockton.

Clarkson Crane, who will be some time at La Playa with his parents, recently returned from France, where he spent two years. He received the Croix de Guerre. Crane is twenty-three years old, and before the war the beginning of his literary career was given an impetus by the publication of several stories in the Atlantic.

Spring Millinery at Holman's

Miss Edna Bernard of Sioux City, Iowa, sister of Mrs. A. B. Werner, and William Breitinger Jr. of Bakersfield, where he is employed by the Standard Oil Co., were married last Thursday. They are honeymooning here.

Thornton Taylor, an aviator, invalided home, will shortly arrive in Carmel. The young man, is a cousin of Clarkson Crane, now at La Playa. They met unexpectedly in France, each knowing the other was there, but not where located.

Plans are being drawn for the elaborate summer residence to be constructed for Charles W. Clark of Sacramento. The site is on the picturesque hills overlooking the ocean, and but a half-hour's drive from Carmel-by-the-Sea. Adjoining the Clark property Miss Chesebrough, the famous golfer, will build a home.

Professor W. A. Cannon and wife recently returned from Australia, are occupying the Lloyd residence. They may build here before long.

Worthmore & Wellworth, best $1 and $2 waists made at Holmn's.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dewitt Taylor have taken a cottage here until the 25th. Mrs. Taylor is an accomplished stage dancer, and several years ago performed at the Forest Theatre.

Carmel Should Get In On This

Monterey Parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West, at a meeting last week, decided definitely to hold the big welcome and reception to our soldiers and sailors on Admission Day, September 9. The day comes at a time when weather conditions are nearly ideal and when some of the summer rush is over. Nearly all the boys will be home by that time.

It will be whole hearted, patriotic Peninsula affair. Every lodge, church, club and civic organization in Carmel, Pacific Grove and Monterey will be asked to take part in the festivities by having representation on the committee, the nucleus of which has been appointed. It is to be a welcome to everybody's boy, and the committee desires everybody to take part in it.

Chairman William Sandholdt requests that all men who have returned or who may return later send in their names and addresses. He asks the friends and relatives of the boys to assist in this matter, as some of the boys are a bit diffident about coming forward. They are all wanted.

Card of Thanks

To the members of the Fire Department and all the friends and neighbors who assisted in saving our house from destruction by fire we tender our hearty thanks and appreciation.

Historic Larkin House at Monterey To Be Restored by Granddaughter

By ANNA G. ANDERSEN

Another old landmark has found a friend and protector, family sentiments having come to the rescue of one of Monterey's oldest landmarks. Mrs. Henry Toulmin of New York, a granddaughter of Thomas O. Larkin, United States Consul in 1843, has purchased the historic house built by her grandfather in 1834. She will not only protect it against the ravages of time, but it is her ambition to give it again the family touch, and to revive in it the Larkin spirit. A brief sketch of this old historic house and its builder seems fitting at this time and may be of interest to lovers of California and her previous landmarks.

Thomas Oliver Larkin was born at Charlestown, Massachusetts, in 1802. In 1831 he accepted an invitation from his half brother, Captain J. B. R. Cooper, to join his at Monterey. He came to California on the vessel Newcastle by way of Honolulu, arriving at Monterey in 1832. The following year he opened a dry goods and grocery store, this being the first wholesale and retail store in the town. He was married to Mrs. Rachel Hobson, a widow, and she was the first American woman to live in California.

In 1843, Mr. Larkin was appointed United States consul, and was the first and only American consul in California. He always maintained friendly relations with the Californians, and was of great service during troubles with John C. Fremont and the trying days of the Bear Flag Republic. He sincerely believed that either in the event of war with Mexico, or the acquisition of California by purchase, the Californians might be induced to voluntarily transfer their allegiance to the United States, and from the beginning of the year 1845 he worked most earnestly to bring about this result.

During an epidemic of smallpox at Monterey in 1844, he established a hospital toward the expense of which the Mexican government contributed most liberally.

Mr. Larkin's house was a political and social center, and some of the most enjoyable "cascarone dances" and other social functions were given there. Walter Colton in his diary of February 16, 1847, writes as follows about the Larkin home: "I have just come from the house of Thomas O. Larkin, where I left the youth and beauty of Monterey. This being the last night of the 'Cascarone' carnaval, everyone has broken his last shell. Two of the young ladies broke their 'cascarones' on the head of our commodore and got kissed by way of retaliation."

The cascarone balls were delightful festivals in which the breaking of the cascarones between the dances was the principal feature. Theye were broken gently on the heads of the dancers, and it was quite an honor to be thus attacked. These festivals were given during the winter months only, the season ending on the evening preceding Ash Wednesday. For weeks previous to the cascarone season, the Spanish Senoritas would begin to save their egg shells. A hole was made in one end of the egg, and the shell filled with cologne water, but most always with "cropel" (gold leaf finely cut, or with colored paper. The open end of the shell was then sealed with wax, or a piece of white paper, cut round, was pasted on the end.

Mr. Larkin in his notes gives the following account of the expenses incurred at one of these affairs: Two dozen bottles wine, $19; one and a half dozeu bottles of beer, $13.50; thirty pies, $13; cakes, $12; box of raisins, $4; nuts, $4; cheese, $1.50; music, $25; nine pounds of sperm candles, $9; five pounds of sugar, $3; dulces (sweets), $5; servants, $4.

Mr. Larkin's duties as United States consul terminated in May, 1848, with the treaty of peace between the United States and Mexico. He was a member of the first constitutional convention which met at Colton Hall, Monterey, in 1849, and gave us the state constitution of 1849, under which California was governed for tweny years. He moved back to New York in 1850, but returned to San Francisco later to take care of his property. He died in San Francisco in 1858. Larkin street in that city was named after him.

Among the quaint documents in the recorder's office of Monterey county, is a book entitled, "Consular Acts of Thos. O. Larkin," which gives a good idea of the duties of the United States consul of that time and of the condition of political affairs in California.

Three new members have been added. Two, temporarily placed on the absent list, have returned.

The club has purchased garden hose, chairs, curtains, piano cover, a $50 Liberty bond. The old piano has been sold and the proceeds applied to the purchase of another instrument.

The club has passed three notable resolutions:

Endorsing appeal for conference on League of Nations, and sending a representative to the conference in San Francisco.

Asking a Constitutional Amendment to destroy polygamy.

Declaring the club "unalterably opposed to Bolshevism."

The Summer School of 1918 was small in numbers but satisfactory in results.

Officers and committees have continued to work in utmost harmony. Having come prosperously through the difficult period of the war, the club is now facing the no less difficult period of reconstruction with courage and hope.

Officers chosen at the annual meeting for the ensuing year are: President, Mary E. Hand; vice-president, A. Mc Dow; recording secretary, Emeline Harrington, corresponding secretary, M. De Neale Morgan; treasurer, Etta Tilton; federation secretary, Isabel Bunting. Directors, in addition to the six officers named, are Anne Dare, George J. Seideneck, Hamilton A. Wolf.

Another "Lucky" Fire

One of the oldest cottages in Carmel was completely destroyed by fire last Thursday evening.

The Desimone dwelling on San Carlos avenue, fitting snugly between the Sam Powers house and the cottage belonging to Mrs. Beatrice Davenport, in the midst of a forest pitchy pine trees, took fire about eight o'clock, while Mrs. Desimone, her daughter and grandchild were at the postoffice. An exploding air-tight drum stove is supposed to have ignited the woodwork. The place was partly insured.

The cottage had been occupied but a short time, the family having come down from San Jose a few days ago. Considerable jewelry and clothing were lost.

That there were not more homes destroyed may be attributed to two causes—one positive, the other negative. The fire laddies worked like heroes and there was no wind.

Harry Aucourt injured his wrist so badly that he was unable to work for several days, and Jess Nichols had many patches of cooked flesh.

WEEKLY GREETING

For society, as for the individual, moral disease and death follow fast every relaxation of moral effort. Society must fight hourly for its life.—Hamilton Wright Mabie.

THOSE LIBERTY BONDS

There is a lot of money being spent every day in advertising with the object of separating plain Mr. American from his Liberty Bonds either by offers to buy them outright or trading in wildcat stock for them. Many plain Mr. Americans are rushing in where wise men fear to tread and are "falling" for the advertisements without thought of why the other fellow wants the bonds.

Advertising, especially the kind Liberty Bond brokers are using, costs a lot of money. Where does the buyer get off? Well, be sure he is getting off else he wouldn't advertise. He isn't in business for his health. He is after the money. It's a cinch you are helping him to a big rake-off when you trade or sell your Liberty Bonds. That's sense, isn't it?

If a Liberty Bond is worth, say, $95 to the broker after he has paid for all of his expensive advertising, it certainly is worth par or more than par to the holder. For on top of his advertising expenses the broker maintains costly offices and much help. That's sense, isn't it?

The reason the broker wants the bonds is that he or his clients want to hold them. It's the broker's business to know bond values. He knows that these Liberty Bonds are going to be valuable things—that they are going way above par—within a year or two. Hold them yourself.

BORN OF WAR

It is difficult yet to value accurately or in some instances to perceive all the war has brought to our national life or pruned from it. The things we think little now may appear to posterity the greatest. The Thrift Stamp idea seems to be one of these. Originated as a war emergency measure, it has taken hold; has appealed to the common sense of America, and may yet shape the destiny of the nation.

It is patent, now that the war is over, that the Thrift Stamp has come to stay. If we get nothing else out of the war but the habit of saving, which begets the corollary simple living, we will have reaped the full fruit of the war. For a thrifty democracy is a firm democracy, a potent democracy, a democracy strong enough to preserve itself.

A man who saves is a better citizen than the man who does not save. He becomes a stockholder in his government and he is jealous for the welfare of that government in war and in peace. In war he will fight for it with his life. In peace he will protect it from those who would tear down.

As America saves from this day on so shall she grow in benign power and in the eyes of mankind. "A bank account for every American citizen" should be one of our national slogans. The Thrift and War Savings Stamp idea is freighted with a mighty change for the better in our national life.

The Thrift Stamp is backed by the United States government. Without doubt it is the greatest investment ever offered and it is in such a form that every American, big and little, can take advantage of it.

As You Will

Because of the constantly changing audiences, Mr. Heron will not arrange a regular series of readings for the ensuing months, but will devote the Thursday evenings at the Book Shop to whatever those who gather there most desire to hear. Some evenings it will be a play, on others a trio of short stories, a varied group of poems, or whatever is requested. Informal discussions of literature, art and music will be welcomed. The evenings will be varied by occasional lectures, readings and entertainments given by others. John Northern Hilliard has promised an evening of legerdemain, and Frederick Preston Search a program of chamber music.

Home Safe and Sound

Our own Perry—Perry Newberry, author, actor, producer, builder, etc., etc., and last, but not least, overseas Y. M. C. A. Secretary, is home again. He arrived in New York on April 28 and be assured he lost no time in beating it for little old Carmel.

Perry Newberry, son of a Civil War Veteran, too old to get into the army (according to regulations), was determined to do his "bit" for democracy and humanity, and it was not to be a long-distance "bit" either. "I want to get where the scrapping is," said he, after war was declared. And so he joined the church, hypnotised the powers that be in the Y. M. C. A. that he was a man much needed by the American soldiers, swore a mighty swear, took some intensive training, and sailed for France.

Subscribers to the Pine Cone, who have read Newberry's published letters from France, know something of his "Over There" activities, hardships and loneliness; but he has not told it all, by a jugful. It will be better told in book form later on.

We are mighty glad to welcome him home, and he will be company at many a fireside for many an evening for some time to come.
